To our nonprofit partners,

The Community Foundation of Sarasota County is proud to bring you the 2019 Nonprofit Compensation and Benefits Report. This report analyzes the survey responses of 147 organizations across Sarasota, Manatee, and Charlotte counties and helps create benchmarks for many positions across the nonprofit sector. Our intention is for the data provided in this report to inform decision making and strategic planning around professional growth, compensation, benefits, and staff retention.

We would like to extend special thanks to the organizations who took the time to complete the survey. The information provided is valuable data that can be used as a reference tool for nonprofit leaders throughout our region.

This report is one way we demonstrate our commitment to strengthening our nonprofit partners to improve the lives of many throughout our region. We have been tracking nonprofit compensation with community-wide assessments since 2006 and using the results to inform our trainings, the offerings of our complimentary consultants, and more activities. In sharing data across the region through these means, as well as our public nonprofit database The Giving Partner, we aim to offer a transparent view into a vitally important industry where sound management practices are literally changing lives.

This report is offered free of charge to all nonprofits and interested parties. Please share this report with your colleagues and peers. We hope that you find this resource useful and informative. Thank you for the important work you do for our region's communities. Together, we can help our nonprofit community grow even stronger.

Sincerely,

Overview of The Compensation Report

The 2019 Community Foundation of Sarasota County (CFSC) Compensation Report includes information on more than 100 specific nonprofit job titles within the Florida counties of Sarasota, Manatee, and Charlotte. These positions range from administrative support to senior executives. The salary and benefit information are comprised of responses from a self-reported survey conducted from January - February 2019. Information from this report can be used to help nonprofit organizations calculate raises, find the market value for specific positions, and retain or recruit employees.

The CFSC Compensation Report seeks to serve as a representative sample of the large nonprofit community within the Florida counties of Sarasota, Manatee, Charlotte, and DeSoto. Unfortunately, due to low survey participation from nonprofits within DeSoto county, there was not enough data to statically represent this county. Therefore, DeSoto County has been omitted from this report.

This report includes graphs depicting the demographic makeup of participants in areas including county, budget size, staff size, and organization category. Additional graphs show what percentages reported an overall budget increase or decrease and salary budget increase or decrease. Also included are tables summarizing the criteria these organizations use in determining salary increases and the average increase offered at each performance and job level.

This report also includes a robust benefits section, which details nonprofit organizations' behavior when offering employee benefits. These benefits include: health care, paid leave, retirement plans, incentive plans, and executive benefits. Some data in this section is cross tabulated by budget size, as this is the metric that correlates most strongly with employee benefit fidelity.

Weighted average salaries and bonuses for each job title are provided, cross tabulated by county, budget size, staff size and organization category. For weighted average salary tabulation, positions not reaching a statistically significant threshold have been suppressed.

Detailed salary data for each job title is summarized within this report. Job titles are conveniently grouped by job function and can be found through the two indices at the back of the book, job title or job number.

Each job title profile contains a "highlights" box showing the group average (weighted and trimmed), as well as the percent of orgs awarding bonuses to the given job title. The quartile amounts have also been displayed where sufficient data was available.

The survey methodology and a glossary of terms are on the following pages.

Methodology for The Compensation Report

Survey Instrument:

The survey instrument queried participating organizations on their classification in several areas, including county, budget size, staff size, and organization category. This enabled cross-tabulation of data based on these criteria. Additionally, the survey asked participants to define employee benefits offerings, salary increase criteria, as well as changes in overall budget and salary budget.

Data Collection:

Survey participants were solicited in the following two ways:

1. In January of 2019, an email was sent to "key contacts" from each of the nonprofits within the Community Foundation of Sarasota County's mailing list. In the subsequent weeks, email reminders were sent out to all organizations that have not completed the survey.
2. On February 4, 2019, survey information was disseminated through a CFSC press release.

Survey respondents utilized an online interface with a unique login and password that allowed them to save progress and return later. The survey was officially closed on March 01, 2019.

Sample Size, Response Rate, and Confidence Interval:

Of the 587 invitations to participate sent out, 147 were completed for an overall completion rate of 25.04%. This is consistent with a margin of error of 7.00% with a confidence interval of 95%, assuming a normal distribution within the sample of respondents.

This margin of error and confidence level indicates that for all analyses of data from the 147 survey respondents, we can be 95% confident that figures are within +/- 7.00 percentage points of the actual figures from the whole population of organizations invited to participate in this study.

It should be noted that any survey contains unknown levels of error from a number of sources, including the question wording, question order, respondent misunderstandings, non-response rates, and other difficulties related to conducting survey research.

All data reported in The Community Foundation of Sarasota County Compensation Report: An Analysis of Nonprofits in Sarasota, Manatee, and Charlotte County was self-reported by survey participants. When the accuracy of data appeared to be contradictory or unlikely, it was verified when possible, for clarification by contacting the reporting organizations. When this was not possible, suspect data was removed. Survey responses were considered complete if responses contained at least 1 credible source of salary data. Therefore, it is important to note that not every question was answered by each respondent.

Glossary of Terms

MIN

Indicates the actual lowest salary paid within all participant employees belonging to a specific job title

1st Quartile

Indicates the mid-point between the actual low salary and the median salary paid within all participant employees belonging to a specific job title; represents the highest salary paid in the bottom 25% of that group

Median

The salary figure occupying the middle position when all reported salary figures paid within participant employees belonging to a specific job title are arranged in ascending order.

3rd Quartile

Indicates the mid-point between the median salary and the actual high salary paid within all participant employees belonging to a specific job title; represents the highest salary paid in the bottom 75% of that group

MAX

Indicates the actual highest salary paid within all participant employees belonging to a specific job title

(Note: Quartile details will only appear for positions with at least 12 unique organizations reporting that position)

Group Average

The average salary paid to participant employees within a specific job title; calculated by totaling all unique salaries paid within that job title and dividing the total by the number of unique salaries.

Weighted Average

The average salary paid to participant employees belonging to a specific job title, taking into account the number of employees earning each unique salary; calculated by multiplying each unique salary paid within a specific job title by the number of employees earning that unique salary, then totaling the results and dividing the total by the number of all employees within that job title group.

Group Average (Weighted & Trimmed)

This is the same as Weighted Average, except that outliers have been "trimmed" from the calculation. An outlier is operationally defined as any salary value that is greater than three standard deviations from the average salary in both directions. Note: This calculation is only provided when a given job title has at least 12 unique organizations reporting the position.

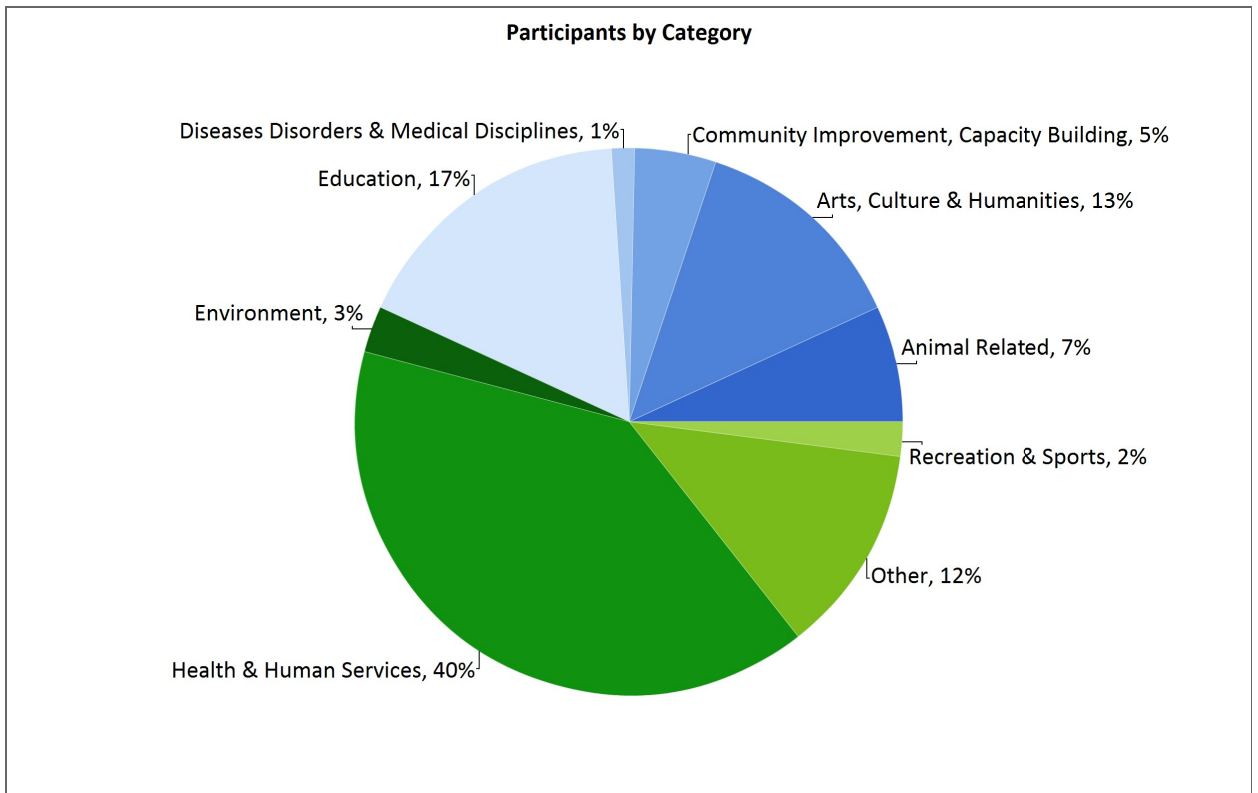

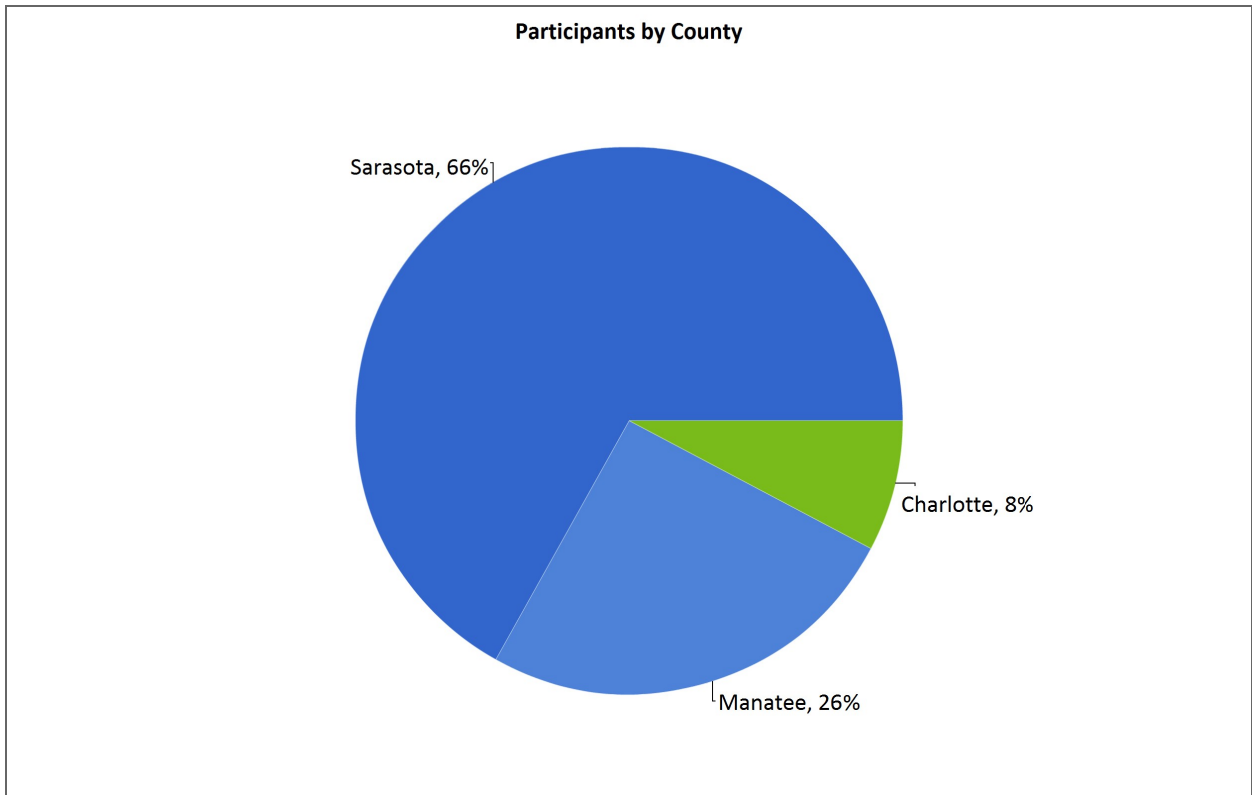

% Orgs Offering Bonus

This is the percent of organizations reporting a given job title which offer a bonus to persons having that job title. Please note: this percent only refers to eligibility of receiving a bonus, as opposed to the percent of employees actually receiving a bonus.

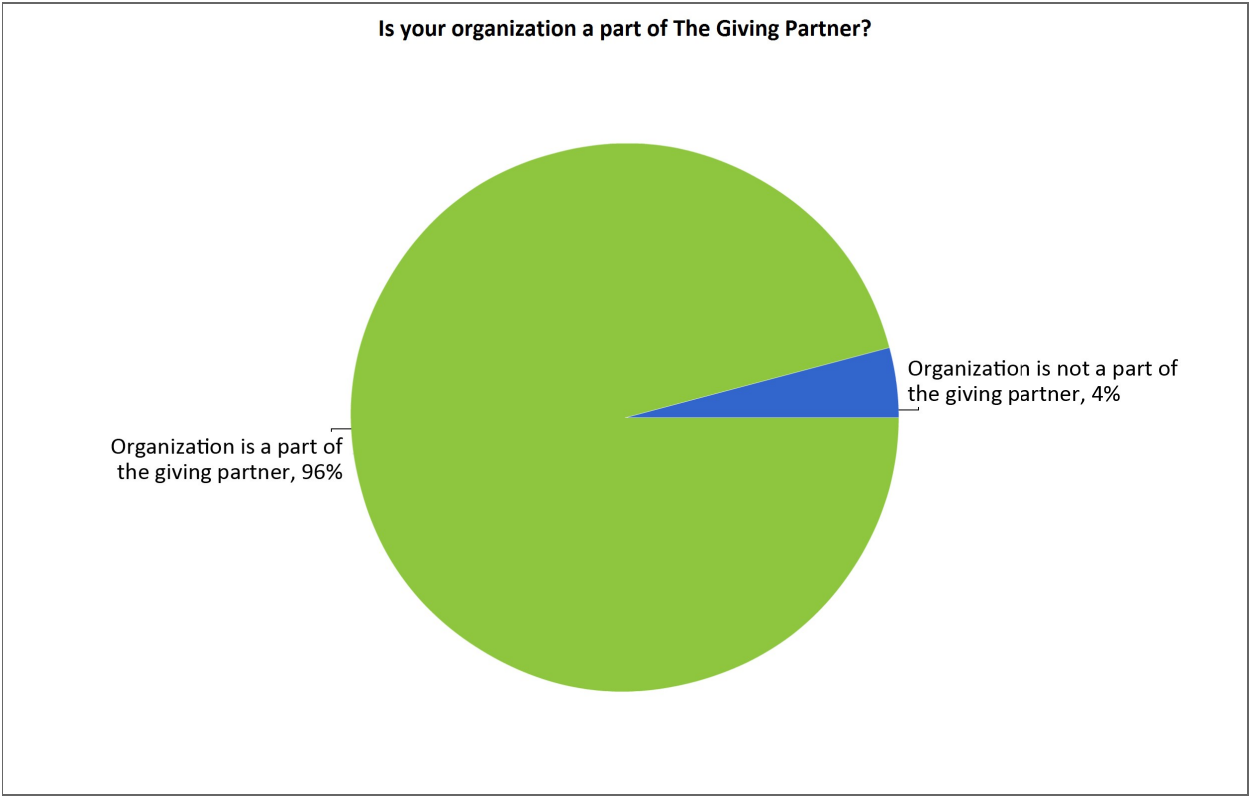

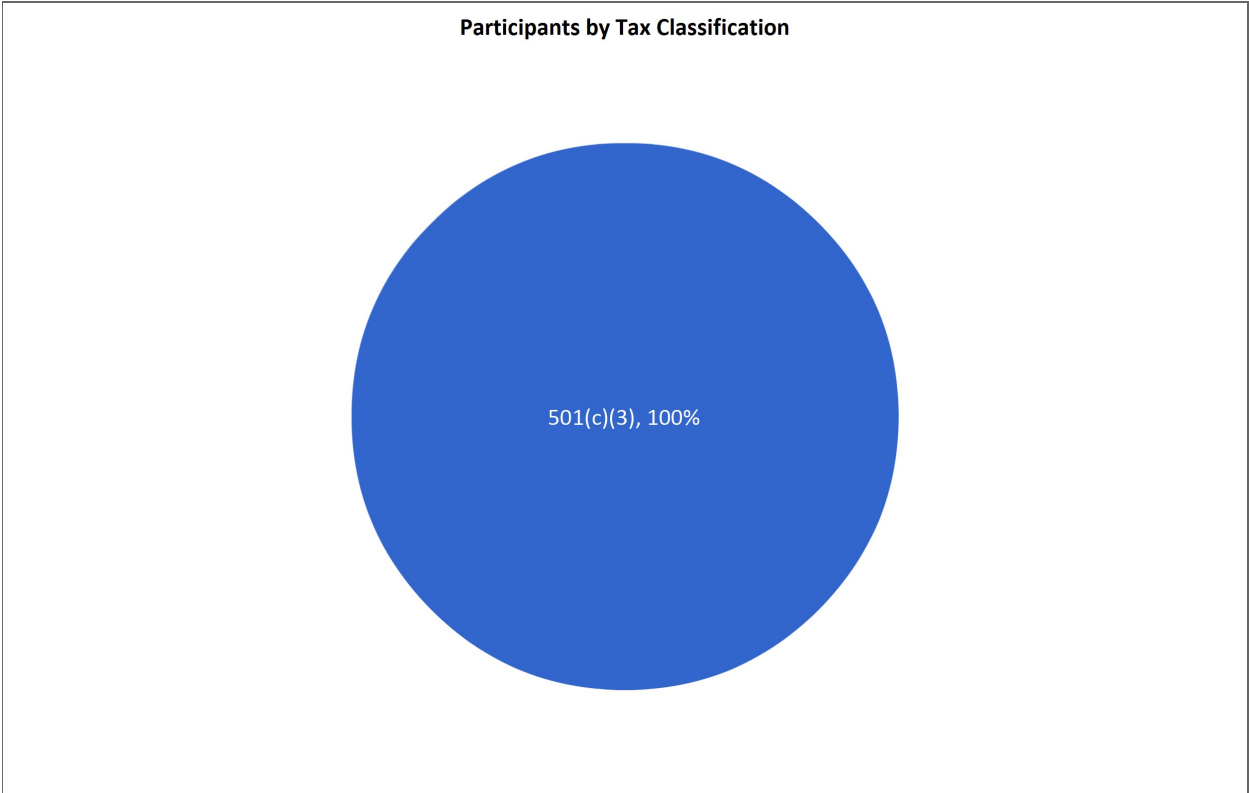

% Eligible Employees Receiving Bonus

This is the percent of eligible employees at organizations who actually received a bonus in the 2018-2019 fiscal year. The calculation is: [# employees actually receiving a bonus] / [# of total employees of a job title at organizations where persons having that job title are eligible for a bonus]

Projected Salary Increase in the 2019 Fiscal Year by Budget Size

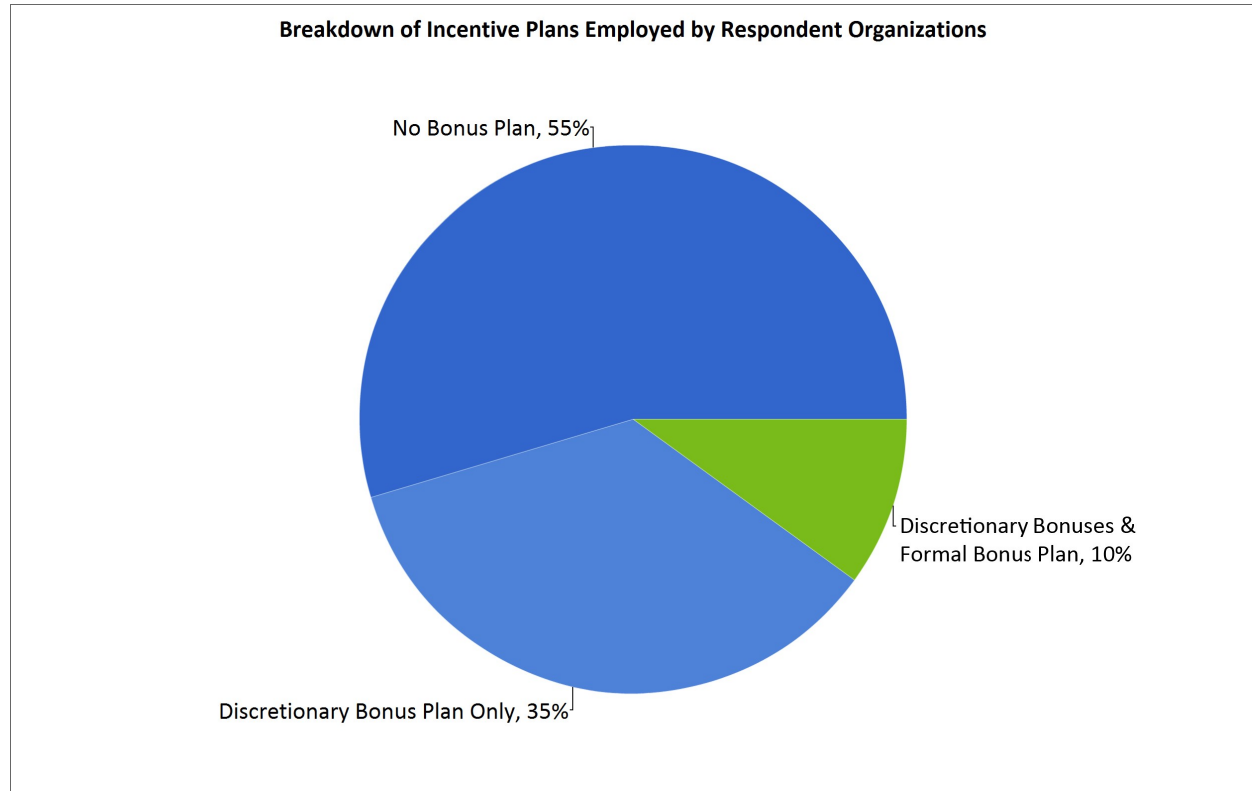

Organizations were also asked to provide the estimated % increase in salaries at their organization in the coming year. Respondents were also able to indicate that salaries would decrease or stay the same in the coming year. The table below displays the results of this survey question broken out by respondent budget size.

| Budget Size | Salaries Will Decrease | Salaries Will Stay The Same | Increase 0-3% | Increase 3-5% | Increase >5% |
|-------------|------------------------|-----------------------------|---------------|---------------|--------------|
| Under 100K | 0% | 92% | 0% | 0% | 8% |

Incentive Plans

This section contains survey responses related to proliferation of incentive, or bonus plans at responding organizations. Figure 24 displays the percent of organizations offering discretionary and formal bonus plans, as well as no bonus plan. For those organizations that reported having a formal incentive plan (a plan that is tied to goals or metrics), Figure 25 displays the breakdown of the targeted or average bonus amounts as a percent of salary according to employee seniority.

Participant Compensation Policies

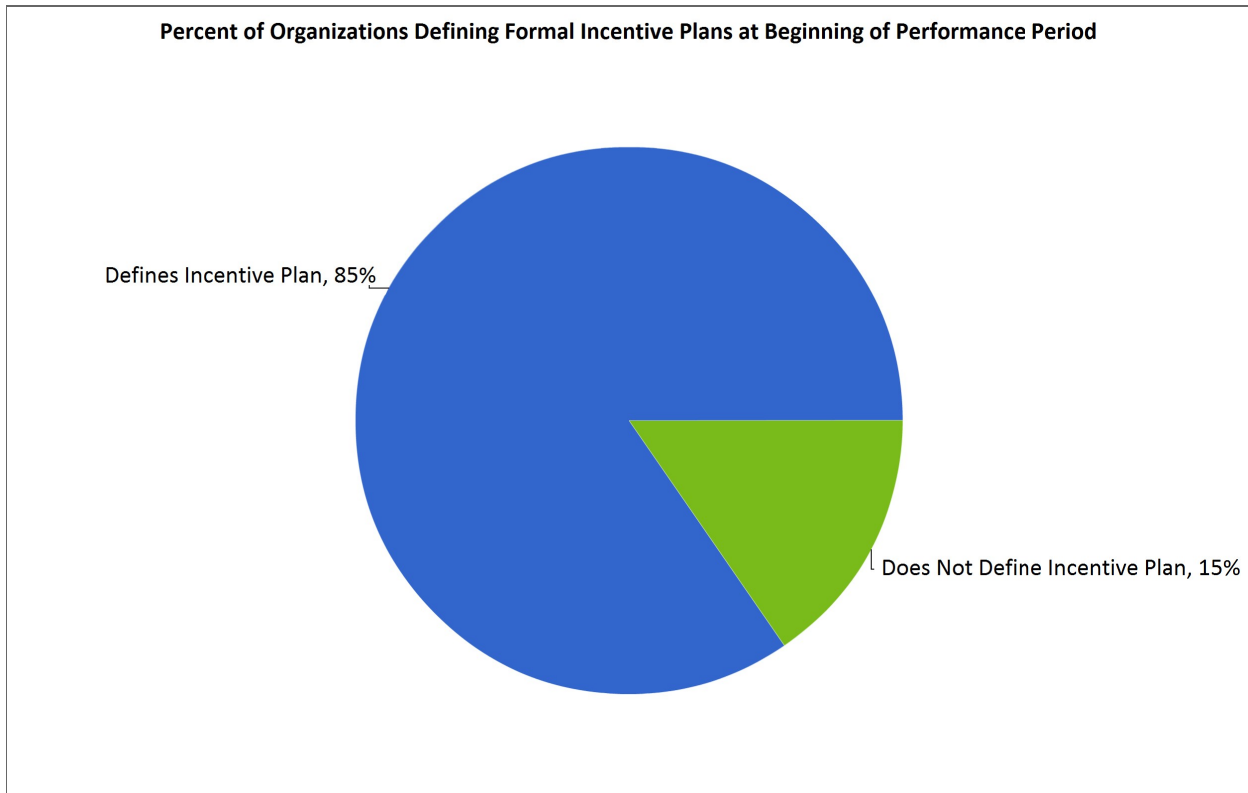

If an organization responded with an affirmative on offering a formal incentive plan, they were asked whether it was possible for bonuses to exceed targeted incentive opportunities. Figure 26 displays the percent of organizations allowing bonuses to exceed targeted incentive opportunities.

Participant Compensation Policies

Organizations having an incentive plan were also asked whether they define a formal incentive plan at the beginning of the employee performance period. Figure 27 displays the percentage of organizations defining a formal incentive plan at the beginning of the performance period. These organizations were further asked to specify the relative importance of financial goals versus non-financial goals when making incentive plan decisions. Figure 28 displays the relative importance of financial goals compared to non-financial goals when creating a formal incentive plan.

Participant Compensation Policies

All organizations were asked whether they offer long-term incentive plans to employees, or a plan which considers employee performance across multiple years when determining awards. However, only a very small percentage of organizations affirmed having a long-term incentive plan, as Figure 29 demonstrates.

[Figure 29]

Participant Compensation Policies

Board Member Compensation

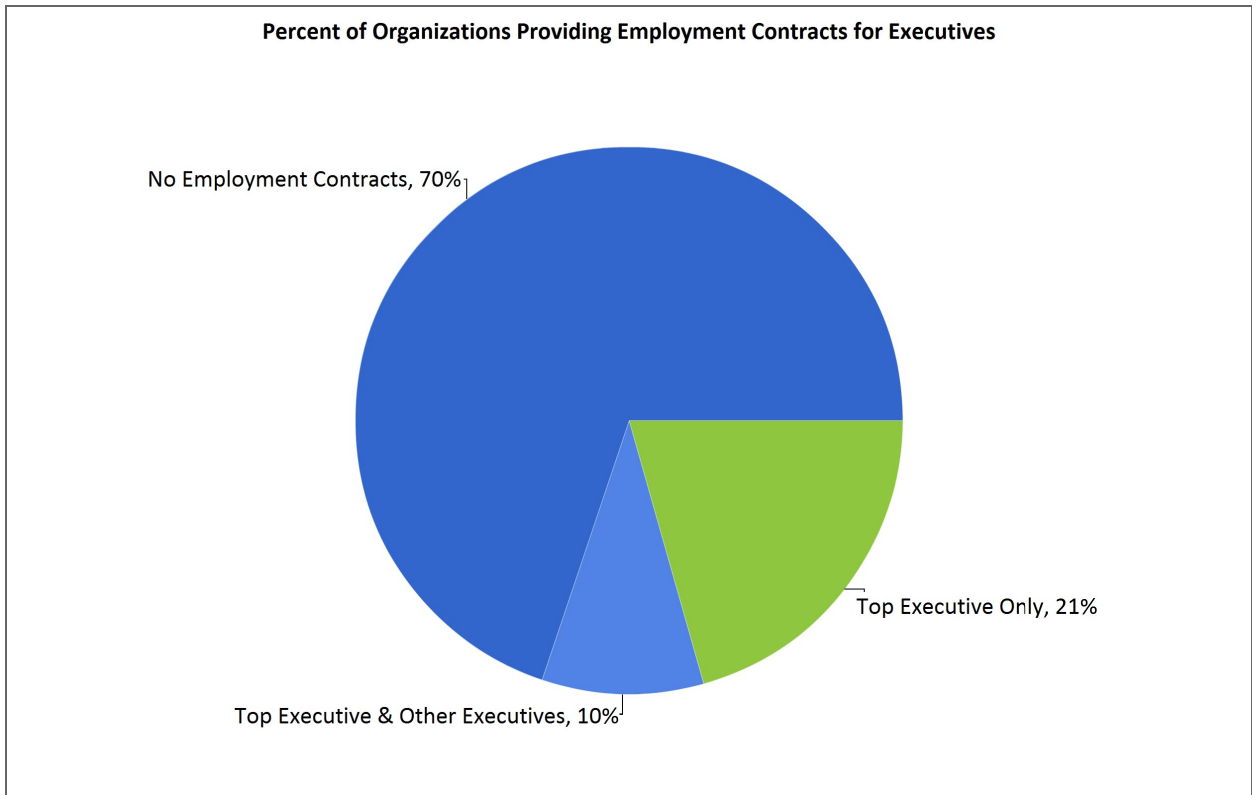

This section contains survey responses related to whether nonprofit organizations and associations compensate their board members. When we discuss board member compensation here, we are referring to compensation beyond expense reimbursement. Figure 30 displays the percent of organizations that provide compensation to their board.

Executive Benefits

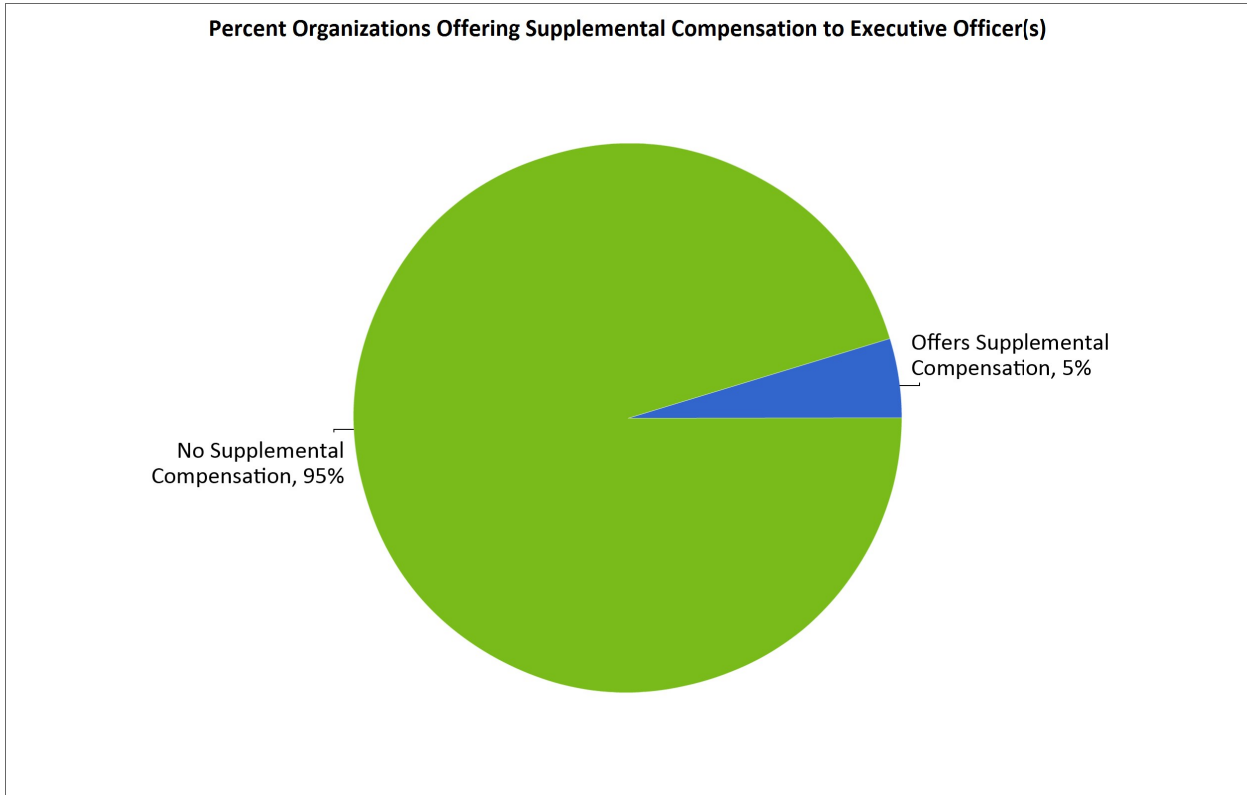

This section contains survey responses related to proliferation of executive benefits at responding organizations. Figure 31 displays the percent of organizations providing employment contracts to their executives. If employment contracts are given to other executives beyond the top executive, that is also noted.

Executive Benefits

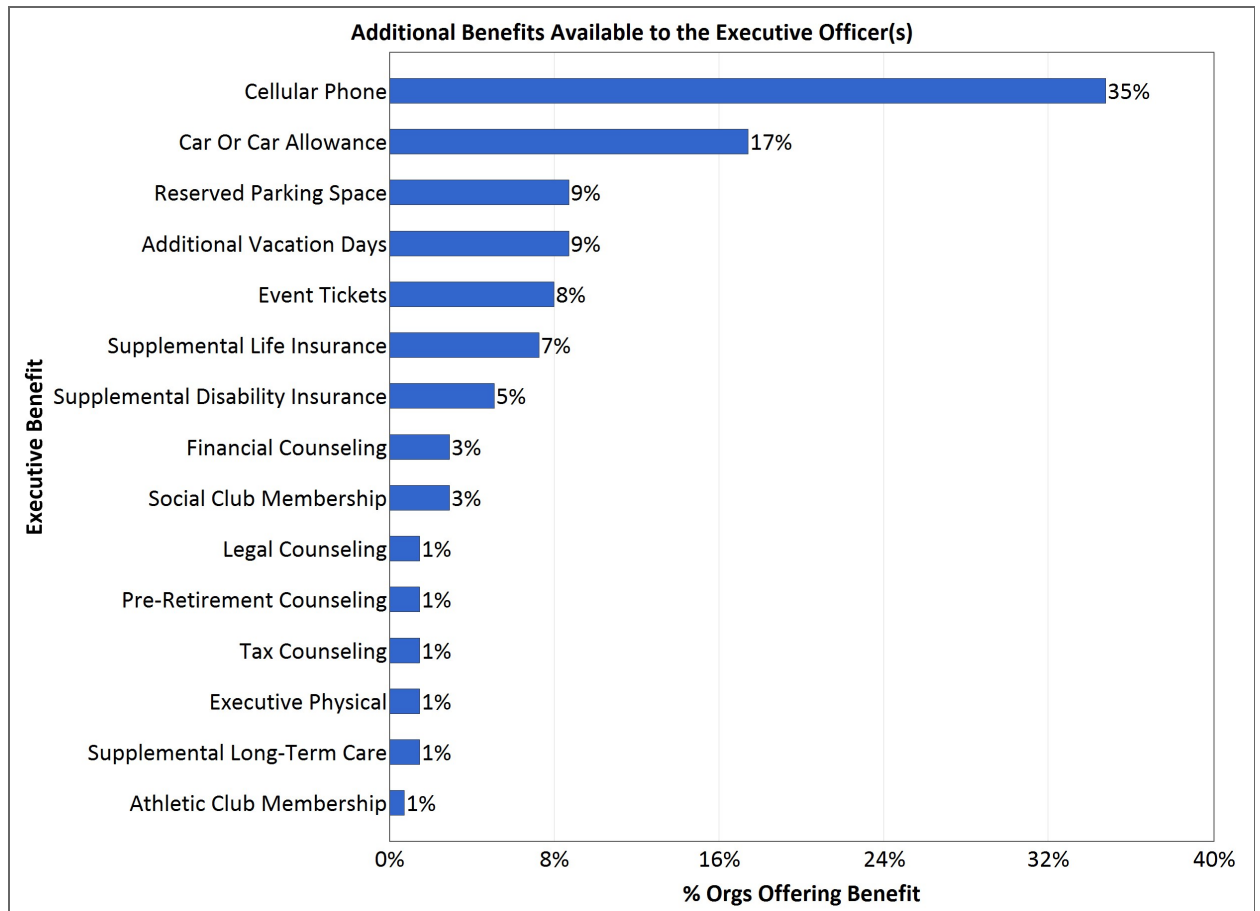

Figure 32 displays the percent of organizations offering supplemental compensation to Executive Officer(s).

Executive Benefits

There are a great many benefits that are often offered to executives. Figure 33 displays a breakdown of proliferation of many such benefits among responding organizations.

[Figure 33]

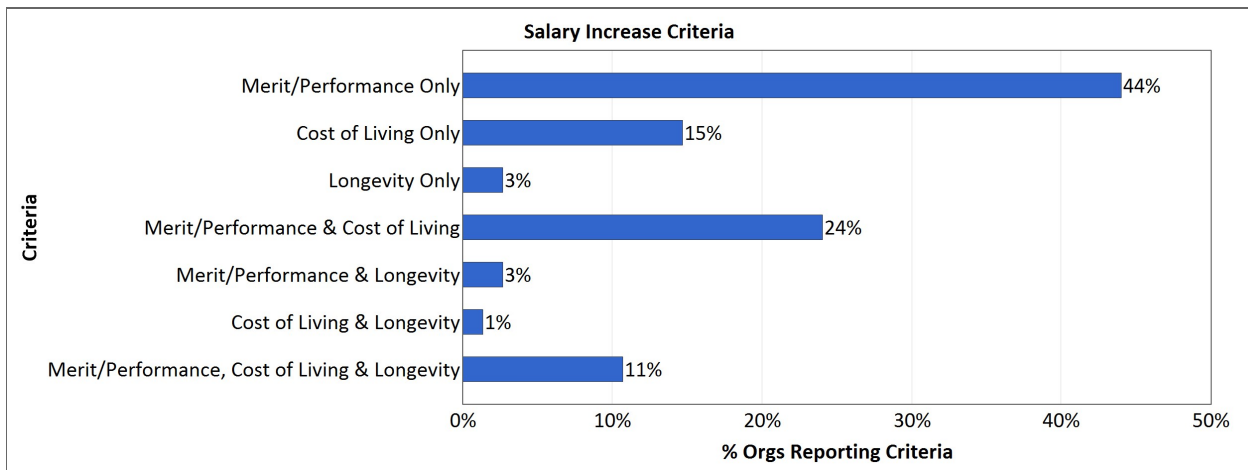

All respondents were asked to quantify the total remuneration for their executives, rounding to the nearest $1000. This was the total estimated value of the executive's salary + bonus + benefits for the top executive. Figure 34 displays this information according to organization budget size.

Salary Increase Criteria

Respondents were asked to report which criterion or combination of criteria they considered when awarding salary increases to their employees. Approximately 38% of the respondents provided this information. The graph below depicts the percentage of these organizations that reported considering each of the seven criteria options.

Salary Increases by Criteria Considered

Approximately 51% of the salary survey participants provided information on the criteria considered by their organizations in awarding salary increases and the rate of increase awarded at each job level. The table below provides details on the average increase being awarded across all job levels in 2019 by organizations considering each criterion shown.

| Criteria Considered | Average % increase in 2019 |
|-----------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Merit/Performance Only | 2.50 |
| Cost of Living Only | 2.28 |

Participation by Job Category

This section contains a series of graphs which provide the number of responding organizations reporting a particular job title. As such, figures in this section are not necessarily indicative of the number of employees for a job title. For example, an organization having 5 administrative assistants will only be "counted" once for the administrative assistant total. Job titles are organized by job family.

Job Title: Intern (Annualized Salary)

Intern positions exist to make use of the training and abilities of undergraduate and graduate students in developing special projects or studies for the organization. Students can relate their education and training to particular subject areas in providing what might be termed "mini-consultant" services. These are generally short term, high impact projects. The projects may range from special efforts directed toward particular objectives, or supplement existing department operations. Interns are assigned to a specific department or division within the organization to develop a project as defined by that department. The most important aspect of this position is the analytical ability necessary to define, organize, develop and complete the project within established guidelines. A project can involve developing programs, preparing and administering surveys, compiling and condensing information for programs or proposals, or studying the effects of changes or new projects. Developing projects generally include researching information, conducting interviews with internal or external personnel, drafting progress reports and recommendations, and meeting with departmental and/or other staff personnel in reporting on and discussing the project. Recommendations might include information sources to be used, areas within the project that are to be extensively developed, or new aspects that should be included in the development of the project.

Job Title: Systems Analyst

Often serves as a translator and interpreter between the end user and data processing personnel. Must understand and interpret the user's requirements in order to design a system that will accomplish the intended purpose, while at the same time translating the process for the programmers/analysts so they can develop the necessary programming techniques.

Works with user departments to advise and explore the feasibility of designing automated data systems to accommodate various program area needs, or to further improve/expand existing systems for greater information retrieval. Develops detailed plans indicating system design - establishes milestones, developmental cost (both hardware and manpower), annual projection cost and completion dates.

In designing a system, develops approaches which include the most efficient way to design the system based on the latest technology in the field; the software capability/limitations; how the application can be integrated in other existing systems where possible, and make recommendations accordingly; and provide the ability to accommodate future expansion with minimal modification.

Writes programming specifications outlining the many bases that the program must consider. Accompanying the specifications will be all file (inputs, outputs and work files) formats with detailed definitions of all data elements. Also included will be systems flow, depicting the total system and the program system and the program by program relationship with the associates hardware components.

Interfaces with the programming staff to make them aware of the progress and current thinking on the project. This affords the opportunity to exchange ideas, verify assumptions and check on the feasibility of the design.

In considering new systems or changes to existing systems, ensures that program specifications are maintained in an up-to-date state and that departmental standards are adhered to. Is expected to maintain and make recommendations for changes and updates to departmental standards. Maintain the systems schedule of current and future projects.

Job Title: Program Director

This position and that of Program Manager are described in contextual terms to accommodate those positions that deal specifically with programs and projects peculiar to the organization for which there are no apparent comparable jobs in other groups.

Most organizations have one or more positions that fit this description. Although there may not be direct job matches with other groups, these positions have certain characteristics and functional patterns that make it possible to gather and use salary data for general reference purposes.

Positions at this level usually encompass a significant program or long-term project that has importance and some visibility to the organization's constituency or satisfies a major organizational need.

These programs can be research oriented, ongoing studies, development and monitoring of industry standards and specifications, compilation and publication of studies, or tracking and reporting on special issues and trends.

These individuals usually have a level of expertise in their area that allows them to serve as staff liaison to member committees, special commissions, project teams and task forces. They may also serve as members of such groups within their respective fields or industry and possibly advise/serve on federal government and public commission or study groups.

In most cases these positions require the individual to have a degree in the practicing field; and many times an advanced degree including the doctorate level. In a number of cases these individuals are viewed as being expert in their area and therefore serve as a key resource person. Their advice and counsel is often sought by the staff, organization constituency, government and the public.

Job Title: Program Manager

These positions may report to a Program Director, or may stand alone within the organization. The scope of the work performed is normally narrower. The individual may be involved in overseeing the operational aspects of a special program area; managing several aspects of a program area; or heading up a project of limited duration or scope.

Participation in committees and the like is more restrictive, as is the role of serving as a resource person, as well as advisor and counselor in the field.

The educational attainment level may be and often is the same as that for Program Director.
